Johnson Hits Power Trust In Predicting Dam Passage

TELLS FIGHT IN TELEGRAM TO REGISTER

Senator Believes Measure Will Be Adopted in December; Sees Struggle AIMS NO TIME LOST

Until Next Session Gives Interior Secretary Time to Finish Studies

Senator Johnson's telegram was in full, as follows: "The progress of the Boulder dam bill, because the project is the greatest undertaking of its character the world has seen and because of the hostility of a part of the interested territory and the intensity of opposition of the most powerful organized private interest in the nation, necessarily has been a hard gradually to ultimate passage."

Preferred Status The bill now has passed the house. Its companion bill has secured status in the senate and is being considered immediately when the senate convenes in December.

Boy's Body Recovered From Ocean

The body of Elmer J. Johnson, 10, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph J. Johnson, of 308 Orange street, Montebello, who was drowned yesterday when he fell into deep water in the mouth of the Santa Ana river, was recovered today.

The boy, with his father and a party of friends, was camping on the beach for the day. The men of the party were fishing. They left the boy in charge of their fishing poles for a short time and when they returned he had disappeared.

The aid of Huntington Beach life guards and police was sought last night in a vain search for the boy's body. The body was found floating in the ocean this morning by Eugene Belva, life guard, and Officers L. F. Keller and E. N. Miller, of Huntington Beach.

YOUTH CONFESSES MURDER OF 7-YEAR-OLD TOLEDO, O., GIRL

State To Ask Death Penalty For Boy Fiend

Expect Insanity to Be Defense Ground After Not Guilty Plea

(By United Press) TOLEDO, O., May 31.—Charles Hoppe, the young chauffeur who kidnaped and murdered 7-year-old Dorothy Szalowski, pleaded not guilty today when arraigned in police court on a first degree murder charge.

Hoppe entered a not guilty plea despite a signed confession in which he told how he snatched the child from her bed, beat her with his fists, bit her, strangled her to death with her own undergarments and dumped the lifeless body on the porch of a relative's house.

Hoppe, nervous and pale, clung to Detective Hovey. The former chauffeur was held to the grand jury without bail. The grand jury now is in session and Prosecutor Roy Hunt said he expected an indictment to be returned by tomorrow night.

Hoppe was returned quickly to his cell after his plea. The state will demand the death penalty.

Over The Pacific, Honolulu-Bound

The tri-motored monoplane, "Southern Cross," which left Oakland airport early this morning for Honolulu, on the first leg of a proposed flight to Australia, is pictured here. Three of the four flyers comprising the giant ship's crew are shown below. They are Charles T. P. Ulm, Australian pilot; Capt. Charles Kingsford-Smith, Australian war ace, leader of the flight, and Capt. Harry W. Lyon Jr., of California, navigator. The "Southern Cross" is equipped with radio and frequent messages indicate the plane is making satisfactory progress under excellent conditions.

LINDY MAKES NIGHT LANDING AT BEACH

LONG BEACH, Calif., May 31.—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh and his cabin monoplane rested here today after another spectacular flight. The air hero landed at the municipal airport at 3 a. m., just 23 hours from the time he left Wichita, Kas., at 8 a. m., yesterday.

Field attendants said Lindbergh intended to stop in Los Angeles, but was forced to come here because no Los Angeles field was equipped for a night landing.

KINGSFORD-SMITH RADIOS FROM 300 MILES AT SEA THAT EVERYTHING IS WELL

Australian Ace Hops Off from Oakland at 8:53 a. m.; Expects to Reach Islands Tomorrow Noon

NO LIFE RAFT ABOARD PLANE

By GERALD P. OVERTON United Press Staff Correspondent SAN FRANCISCO, May 31.—Capt. Charles Kingsford-Smith's monoplane "Southern Cross" had covered more than 300 of the 2400 miles from Oakland airport to Honolulu at 12:30 p. m., today.

The plane was flying at a speed of from 82 to 85 miles an hour at that time and frequent radio messages told of engines and mechanism of the plane functioning perfectly.

Hopes of Captain Kingsford-Smith and his companions, Charles T. P. Ulm, Lt. Harry Lyon Jr., and James Warner, for a safe trip to Australia by way of Honolulu and the Fiji Islands were running high.

The giant tri-motored plane took off from Oakland airport at 8:53 a. m., Pacific standard time.

The great ship made an easy takeoff on her second attempt.

The radio beacon at Crissy field, San Francisco, which served as a guide to the plane, was temporarily lost at 12:08 p. m., according to the radio messages. The crew expressed no concern over that fact, expecting to pick the radio beacon signals shortly.

At 2000 Feet The plane was flying at an altitude of 2000 feet at that time, with a speed of 73 knots, or approximately 82 miles an hour.

Later the plane reported a slight increase in speed.

"We have dropped from an altitude of 1850 feet because of low clouds," said a message at 12:30 p. m. "The visibility is excellent as long as we keep under the clouds."

"We are fully 300 miles out from the Oakland airport. The engines are continuing to work without the slightest show of trouble."

"Kingsford-Smith and I feel like we are sitting on top of the world."

The message was signed, "ULM."

At 12:30 p. m., Ulm relieved Kingsford-Smith at the controls of the "Southern Cross" for 20 minutes while Kingsford-Smith, who had piloted the craft since the takeoff, relaxed for a short time.

Pilot's Eyes Sore Kingsford-Smith complained his eyes were sore.

CAMPAIGN LOG

Senator Guy D. Goff held a lead of about 7000 votes for the Republican presidential endorsement in West Virginia over Herbert Hoover. Governor Alfred E. Smith led Senator James A. Reed by about 5000 votes for the Democratic endorsement.

The Southern Women's National Democratic organization in a meeting in New York adopted a resolution endorsing the presidential candidacy of Governor Smith.

The people's lobby, headed by Professor John Dewey of Columbia university, sent letters to six of the leading candidates for the two major presidential nominations asking concerning their foreign policies.

The School Bond Election--Predicated On Need

AN EDITORIAL

In presenting its call for school bonds, to be voted upon next Tuesday, the board of education approached the problem in a business-like way. It secured the services of experts in gathering facts and figures, and, with the data all on hand, drew the conclusions upon which the election was called.

Not in recent years at least, has a matter of equal importance to this city been brought before the people of the high school and elementary districts for decision. The proposal has to do with the material welfare of the community and consequently is woven into the fabric of every citizen's life.

The proposal is to be submitted Tuesday. One of these proposals is to have a bond issue of $372,000 for elementary school needs in Santa Ana. Another is to have a bond issue of $100,000 for high school needs in Santa Ana. The third is to have a bond issue of $100,000 for high school needs in Santa Ana. The fourth is to have a bond issue of $100,000 for high school needs in Santa Ana.

Each of these proposals is of tremendous importance, worthy of study and consideration on the part of the residents of the districts concerned. The information upon which the elections were called is available for use by any voter. A pamphlet of eighty-eight pages, prepared by Dr. O. R. Hull and Dr. W. S. Ford of the School of Education of the University of Southern California, can be secured at the office of the City School Superintendent. Any voter who doubts the advisability of voting the bonds ought, by all means, to secure this pamphlet. An hour's study of it, it seems to us, will convince any hard-headed, self-sufficient man that the board of education was justified in calling the election. More, the board of education, as an agent of the people, would have been remiss in its duty had it failed to carry this message of need to the districts concerned. The responsibility for action rests, therefore, upon the voters.

Let us consider some of the methods used by the investigators. Here are some of the subjects covered in minute detail, with accurate figures: Growth and development of each school district; building saturation; building permits, as indicating areas of expansion and ratios of increase; growth of population; growth of school population; estimated growth in school population; scores of every school building in each district as compared with the standard set in the Strayer-

Engelhardt Score Card; capacity and utilization of schools; pupil membership and present capacity compared with impending growth; financial status of each district; capital outlay in present school property; tax rates, past, present and contemplated; true valuation per pupil; school indebtedness. Tables and maps are given by Dr. Hull and Dr. Ford to illustrate graphically sets of figures gathered by them. These data, maps and charts were subjected to close scrutiny by the school board and by an advisory committee of citizens, and any citizen who desires to go into the matter thoroughly, has the opportunity to do so.

These educational experts made similar surveys for the Monrovia Union High school district, the Santa Monica city schools and the Alhambra public schools, and it was upon their surveys that those districts have issued school bonds for the upbuilding of their schools. None can question their outstanding ability, practical experience and sincerity. They are recognized educational engineers.

Though each of the subjects covered by Dr. Hull and Dr. Ford is deeply interesting and instructive, we cannot in this editorial go into a detailed presentation of them. We assure our readers that the report is a forceful and convincing argument for the bonds.

Here, for instance, is a conclusion of the experts under a paragraph entitled "Capacity and Utilization of Santa Ana Elementary Schools":

"It is important to note that the present membership of elementary pupils exceeds the desirable capacity by 352 pupils. This is an indication of the necessity for the immediate provision of additional school facilities for the elementary pupils."

Here is a conclusion relative to the Willard junior high school on North Main street:

"The score of the Willard plant is 362. According to the Strayer-Engelhardt standards for high school buildings, any building scoring less than 400 is unsatisfactory for school use and should be abandoned. Surely, our school districts ought not continue the use of a building that should be abandoned. This same building, by the way, is severely criticised by Dr. Pressey, former county health officer."

Since the board of education made a thorough investigation, it is proceeded in a businesslike manner, and has based its call upon facts gathered in a complete canvass of the situation. The call for bonds should receive the unqualified support of the voters of the district. There has been an up-to-date, up-to-date plan to build a new school building, for the betterment of our schools.

HOPES DWINDLE AS NORTH HIDES NOBILE'S FATE

strategic points so that all of the Arctic area may be searched.

Agents of Umberto Nobile, commander of the "Italia," here were frantic. Every relief expedition was planned but no one knew just what direction to take in starting a search for the lost dirigible and its crew of 16.

Brother Pessimistic
Even Nobile's brother, commanding the Citta Di Milano, which had to turn back to Kings Bay because of ice floes in the North, talked pessimistically of the fate of the craft.

All here, however, believed that the expedition of the chasseur sweeping through the interior and up the north coast line would be of the most value at the moment.

Many northern explorers felt certain that some place on this barren, ice-crusted island or its adjoining island-Northeastland—would be found either the dirigible and its human cargo or at least an indication of the fate of the vessel.

The chasseur will spend about 10 days in reconnoitering.

Norway Takes Steps To Learn Nobile's Fate

OSLO, Norway, May 31.—Norway today started its greatest efforts to learn the fate of Gen. Umberto Nobile and his polar dirigible "Italia."

The official government relief expedition started for Bergen, where it will board the coal ship Ingvald. From Bergen the ship will proceed to Kings Bay and, using that as a base, search through the great Arctic regions for the dirigible, now several days unreported.

While Riser-Larsen has been ordered by the cabinet to fly to Tromsø and to proceed at Kings Bay by boat, he will remain at Spitsbergen pending arrival of the two planes sent by the Norwegian government from Bergen to Spitsbergen yesterday.

The various expeditions will combine at Kings Bay to make a careful air and land tour over the territory where Nobile might have landed. The Norwegian cabinet decided to send Riser-Larsen into Kings Bay despite the fact that no answer had been received from Italy concerning relief plans.

The investigation showed, it was said, that Gless was on his side of the road at the time of the accident. He was not held by officers.

The body of Bert Runnells was brought to the funeral parlors of Smith and Tuttle, here, where Coroner Charles Brown said he probably would hold an inquest tomorrow. San Juan Capistrano officers were to confer with Brown today regarding the details of the accident.

Bert Runnells is survived by his widow, Mrs. Esther Runnells, and one child, besides his parents and several brothers and one sister.

'SOUTHERN CROSS' SPEEDING OVER PACIFIC HAWAII-BOUND

Radio Messages Report Big Ship Is Making Satisfactory Progress

eyes were getting sore and he put on goggles before resuming the controls, the radio messages said.

He planned to pilot the "Southern Cross" the rest of the afternoon and until midnight, with short relief shifts by Ulin.

At midnight Ulin said he would take the controls for the remainder of the night, permitting Kingsford-Smith to get some sleep.

At the start of the ocean flight to Honolulu—2100 miles—the "Southern Cross" was stopped for engine inspection on her first attempt to start.

The ship took the air after a 5000-foot run. It rose from the ground for a moment, settled down, then rose again.

Plane Climbs Sharply
The "Southern Cross" climbed sharply to an altitude of 100 feet and increased its speed. A moment later it had vanished from sight into the slightly sun-pierced haze to the west.

Undaunted by the fact that one of his motors stopped in the first attempt to take off, Kingsford-Smith refused to wheel the ship back to the head of the runway. The second and successful start was made from the first stopping position.

A wild shout rose from the crowd as the great ship took the air.

With Smith were Charles T. P. Ulin, relief pilot; Lt. Harry Lyon Jr., navigator, and James Warner, radio operator.

The "Southern Cross" rose gracefully despite the seven-ton load carried. Twelve hundred gallons of gasoline were in the fuel tanks for the 2100-mile first lap of the great flight, from Oakland to Honolulu.

Speeds Over Golden Gate
The wings of the plane gleamed in the morning sun as the ship turned to the northwest, and sped toward the open ocean past the Golden Gate. A light haze covered the sea.

The plane will be guided during the first part of the flight by the radio beacon at Crissy field, San Francisco.

Midway between San Francisco and the Hawaiian Islands, it will pick up the radio beacon at Wheeler field, near Honolulu.

Kingsford-Smith estimated it would take approximately 25 hours for the flight to Honolulu.

"We will eat lunch in Honolulu tomorrow," said Kingsford-Smith, with full confidence in his plane to complete the hope of 2400 land miles (2100 nautical miles). He estimated the "Southern Cross" would make a speed of from 95 to 100 miles an hour at the start, later increasing its speed slightly as the weight of the fuel load was cut down.

No Safety Devices
The crew decided not to carry life rafts or other safety devices with them on the flight.

"That would only increase the weight of the plane and we will not need them," Kingsford-Smith said. A hacksaw was put in the cockpit of the plane to be used in cutting away the three heavy engines of the big plane in case of a forced landing on the water.

With gasoline tanks emptied by emergency valves and the engines cut away, Kingsford-Smith is confident the plane would remain afloat for hours.

Warner expected to make hourly reports of the position of the plane to land stations along the California coast and in Hawaii and to ships at sea.

The plane carried three radio sets, one of them supplied with power by storage batteries so that a message for aid could be sent out even if the motors of the big craft were disabled.

Nine vessels were reported early today along the route the "Southern Cross" will take to Honolulu. All were advised to keep constant lookout for the passage of the airplane.

The vessels were the Calawall, Vigilant, Nassa, Lubrico, Herborg, Wilhelmina, President McKinley, Malolo and the tug Meigs.

Friends Press Around
Friends pressed around Kingsford-Smith and his companions as they walked from the administration building of the airport and took their positions in the cockpit of the plane.

Three women kissed the Australian war ace and said farewell with tears in their eyes. The stern-faced Australian seemed confused by their show of emotion.

One of the women who was last to talk with Kingsford-Smith was the mother of Lt. Albert E. Eichwald, who perished with six other aviators in the ill-fated Dole race to Honolulu last summer.

Mrs. Eichwald presented Kingsford-Smith with a silver ring which her son had fashioned from a franc piece while serving with the American Expeditionary Force in France during the World war.

Silently the four aviators stepped into the cockpit, Kingsford-Smith scanning the charts for the flight to Honolulu as the mechanics warmed up the motors.

Just a moment before the plane started down the runway, he turned to his friends and the crowd held back of police lines and shouted one word:

"Cheerio."

The whirr of the swiftly revolving motors made further conversation impossible.

Captain at Controls
At a signal from the mechanics that all was ready, Kingsford-Smith took the controls and the "Southern Cross" started down the runway.

Suddenly the center motor stopped. There was an exclamation of disappointment from the crowd. Kingsford-Smith brought the plane to a halt and mechanics came running to inspect the motors.

They again started the motors and gave the crew the signal that all was ready.

One of the mechanics shouted to Kingsford-Smith that he had better wheel the plane back to the head of the runway to gain the advantage of the additional distance for the second takeoff.

"Hell, no," replied the Australian. "I've got plenty of room to get her off the ground."

The plane lifted its heavy load with apparent ease after it had gained a momentum of 90 miles an hour. The three motors seemed functioning perfectly on the second start.

Radio Beacon Started
Officials of the Oakland airport immediately notified army officers at Crissy field, in San Francisco, and the army radio beacon there was set in operation.

Word of the departure of the "Southern Cross" was flashed to Honolulu, where other army officers stood by ready to begin working the radio beacon at Wheeler field.

Radio operators of the Radio Corporation of America and hundreds of amateurs up and down the Pacific Coast tuned in their sets to listen for word from the plane.

Klan Paying Heflin For Talks, Claim

WASHINGTON, May 31.—William F. Zumburn, counsel for the Ku Klux Klan national headquarters here, told the senate campaign committee today the klan had spent no money in the presidential campaign.

"Have you spent any money to circulate, for instance, the fact that any of the candidates are Catholics?" Chairman Stewer asked.

"No one nickel," Zumburn replied.

"What do you know about the anti-Smith campaign Senator Mefflin, of Alabama, has been conducting?" Stewer asked.

"I don't know a thing except what I have read in the newspapers," Zumburn said.

He then added he understood Klan organizations in various states had paid Heflin from $100 to $500 each for speeches.

Stewer announced a subcommittee would go to New York tonight to conduct an investigation of Hoover and Smith expenditures there tomorrow.

companions reach Honolulu safely, they will rest there a day or two while their plane is overhauled and refueled and will then take off for Suva, in the Fiji Islands, a distance of 2310 miles.

From Suva, their third hop will be to Sydney, Australia, 2346 miles distant, making a total of 7778 miles for the flight.

Confident of Success
Confidence of the crew in the ability of the "Southern Cross" to make the long hops was based on its performance in three attempts to break the world's endurance flight record last fall.

On the third attempt the plane remained in the air more than 50 hours, twice the time necessary to fly from San Francisco to Honolulu under favorable conditions.

The endurance attempts of the "Southern Cross" failed because of exhaustion of the fuel supply.

AIRPORT QUESTION REOPENED IN L. A.

LOS ANGELES, May 31.—The entire municipal airport question, presumably settled early this week, was reopened in city council by an eight to seven vote today.

At the same time council voted to cancel the action whereby it agreed to lease the Mines field, near Inglewood.

A third motion called for a special committee of council to investigate the airport situation.

While there was no mention of it on the floor, it was understood the reported inability of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh to land in Los Angeles early this morning had caused the councilmen to reopen the matter of a municipal airport.

MISSING SPANISH AVIATORS AT IRAQ

SEVILLE, Spain, May 31.—Capt. Ignacio Jimenez and Capt. Francisco Iglesias landed at Nasiriyah, Iraq, about 400 miles from Karachai, India, a radio message received here today said.

The cause of the landing of the flyers, who were trying to break the world's long distance flight record, was not given. They had started from here Tuesday morning.

reality it is no delay at all. After the recent dam disaster the secretary of the interior, in writing, requested authorization to employ a board of engineers again to go over ground and data and report thereon. This will require six months. In accordance with his request, the house bill contains such a provision and when we in the senate began to fear result of filibuster and power opposition we concluded, with a separate bill, to give this authorization to the secretary that no time should be lost.

Senator Pittman presented a joint resolution, which has passed both houses. The secretary can now complete new studies and further examination by December 1 and when the bill is passed immediate action thereunder can be had.

"Of course we still will have a determined open opposition and an insidious, malevolent and much more to be feared secret hostility. We must be on guard against both. Framed conferences by the power trust must be avoided. False and treacherous individuals, publicly proclaiming friendship while privately fomenting discord, must not be permitted to divert us from the one great object in view. Hidden representatives of private interests, hypocritically suggesting other means of accomplishing what we seek, must be held up to the scorn and obloquy they deserve."

"With closed ranks and one thought together we must go forward and if we have the sense to understand and the courage to fight for the right the Boulder dam project before this year is ended will become a reality."

home last night, according to a report made by Mrs. Irene Seale, 22, to the sheriff's office.

Mrs. Seale was badly beaten over the head and is in a serious condition in the Orange County hospital. She was unconscious from the blows for sometime, it was reported.

The Seales had been separated for several days, according to the report made to officers, Mrs. Seale declaring, officers said, that her husband was jealous because she had taken the position at the Orange shaw.

Mrs. Seale was walking from the bus line to her brother's home, where two small children awaited her, when a car, occupied by her husband, drove up, she said. He got out of the car and tried to force her into the machine. She fought him off and was about to escape when he struck her several times with the instrument which she said she believed was an iron bar.

F. W. Howard, chief criminal deputy sheriff, said that a complaint, charging assault with a deadly weapon with intent to commit murder, would be filed against Seale today. In the meantime, the sheriff's office is scouring the county for Seale, who disappeared in the darkness after the alleged attack.

Screams from Mrs. Seale attracted the attention of Harold West, Long Beach, a passing motorist, who took her to the office of Dr. A. H. Foster, in Buena Park, where first aid treatment was given. Later she was moved to the county hospital, where it was said she would live.

"POPPY DAY" BRINGS IN TOTAL OF $550

"Poppy Day," in Santa Ana last Tuesday, netted disabled service men of the World War a total of $550, according to an announcement made today by Mrs. Aimee Crawford, chairman of the Santa Ana American Legion auxiliary's committee in charge of selling the little red flowers.

More than $500 poppies were sold by the score of auxiliary members who erected booths on the streets, Mrs. Crawford said, and the total amount of money received equals the record made in former years.

All of the money derived from the sale of the poppies goes to the disabled men.

SEES BURGLAR ROB HOME OF HER NEIGHBOR

Afraid to interfere because she was alone in her home, a Costa Mesa woman yesterday saw the home of M. Hostettler, her neighbor, entered by a burglar who escaped with several hundreds of dollars' worth of clothing and household goods. It was reported today.

The woman reported the man came to her door first, saw that someone was in the house and went next door, which he entered with the aid of a pass key. The Hostettler family were at the Orange County park at the time.

When they returned they found the house ransacked and reported the following articles stolen: a dress suit, pair of shoes, 12 shirts, several suits of underwear, silver percolator, silver waffle iron, a wrist watch, diamond Elk pin, bath robe and about $1.50 in pennies from a jar.

The man was seen to leave the house with the articles and a good description of him was given officers who are making an investigation.

A. King Void Sues In Local Court

Attorneys probably have become used to being charged with uttering dry, legal phrases. Perhaps they take it as a matter of course that some people believe they don't even have a sense of humor.

But occasionally, it appears today, they must chuckle at themselves and take the liberty of having a little fun as they grind out legal documents. For, buried at the end of a list of defendants in a suit to foreclose a mortgage, a new fictitious name was discovered.

A few of the old reliable Doe family were there, perhaps casting supercilious sidelong glances at the newcomer. But this personage paid no attention. In fact he couldn't. For his name is A. King Void.

ESCAPES OFFICERS BUT CAUGHT AGAIN

C. J. Wheeler, Los Angeles, who was under arrest here on May 25, for about five minutes, but who escaped from Officer Harry Carter of the sheriff's forces, while Carter was capturing another man, is back in Carter's hands again.

When he was arrested the first time, at Third and Main streets, he was arrested for possession of liquor. This time, he not only faces that charge, but one of escaping an officer too, it was said.

Carter arrested William Beeken at Third and Main streets when Beeken is alleged to have tried to sell him a quantity of liquor. Wheeler was Beeken's assistant at the time, it was reported.

Both men will be arraigned in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court today.

Wheeler was arrested by Carter yesterday afternoon, at the intersection of Santa Monica and Redondo avenues, where he had been trailed.

Previous gatherings have been devoted to details of organization, according to Frank Mason, secretary, the meeting tomorrow night at Fullerton being the first occasion when the actual business for which the club was formed will be conducted.

Each supervisorial district in the county has one vice-president of the club, Stanley M. Robinson of Santa Ana representing the first district; Lou Mitchell of Huntington Beach the second; Hugh Miller of Fullerton, the third; Paul Muench of Orange the fourth, and Major J. B. Wellington the fifth.

The club has no connection with the American Legion, it is emphasized by those interested, being open to all ex-service men who have served the United States in time of war, and are interested in clean political campaigns.

OLD SCORE SETTLED IN $280 JUDGMENT

L. J. Glynn, Fullerton, had been awarded a judgment today against Luther D. Neal, of the same section, amounting to $280.57. He won it in Superior Judge E. J. Mark's court.

The amount does not appear to be very large, but the number of old scores it settled might make up for that.

In 1936 Glynn and Neal were partners in the ice business. They were seeking another judgment, totalling $125.95, against Neal D. Smith. Then Neal arranged a settlement whereby the partners received an ice contract and route in Yorba Linda and Placentia Glynn said. According to his complaint, Neal did not exercise ordinary business skill in making the settlement, and it has meant nothing of value to the business in the past three years.

But the matter is partly finished now, for he has been given $124.44—half the judgment against Smith; six dollars and 44 cents, interest on that amount; $77.10, court costs in the suit against Smith, which he claims would have been collected.

ARTS AND CRAFTS SCHOOL WILL REPEAT PLAY

The children of Artesia high school will repeat at the high school auditorium tomorrow night, the opera, "Cinderella in Flowerland," so successfully given at the Artesia street school house last Friday evening. It was announced today.

The opera is being reproduced in the larger auditorium by special request, in order that the general public may have opportunity of witnessing its production by the children of the Mexican school.

"Cinderella, as played by Francis Garcia, is truly the neglected character of our fairy tale, but her voice is very captivating," said a friend of the school who witnessed the presentation last Friday. "The part of Prince Sunshine, played by Juan Ojeda, is well played. Many beautiful flower parts are played by the children."

Prof. S. D. Mustel, director of city school orchestra, will have charge of the music program arranged for presentation before the opening of the opera and between scenes. The program will start at 7:30 o'clock.

Members of parent-teacher associations are particularly interested in the performance and it is anticipated there will be a large attendance.

200 FIREMEN ATTEND MEET TUESDAY NIGHT

The attendance of 200 persons at the meeting last night of the Orange County Firemen's association at American Legion clubhouse, Orange, indicates an increasing interest in the members of the fire fighting organization, according to Boyd Blagden, secretary of the association.

The session was featured with discussions on the art of fighting fires, and information given on the use of long ladders and other equipment, brought to the attention of members of the various departments many important details that will be valuable to them.

One of the interesting announcements was the report by Roy Davis, chief of the Fullerton department, that all departments in Orange county had answered questions necessary for the preparation of a "move-up" plan. The plan is one by which one department may help another in case of a major conflagration. The questionnaires concerned equipment that would be available in case need develops for calling equipment in one city to another.

A. E. McFarlin, of Los Angeles, chief engineer for the board of fire underwriters of the Pacific Coast, was one of the speakers, and he emphasized the fact that firemen of today are not only fire fighters but fire prevention engineers.

"That department is practicing fire prevention whose members realize that there still is much to be learned, and who bend every effort to learn the latest methods of fire fighting and prevention," McFarlin said.

An address by Fred C. Coop, chief of the Pasadena department, and a paper by W. A. Fuller, battalion chief in the same city, were other features. The paper presented by Fuller will be read at the annual meeting of the Pacific Coast Fire Chiefs to be held in Sacramento October 1-5.

The Citrus Belt Firemen's association, which is composed of departments in the Pomona Valley, was represented at the meeting by a large delegation.

The next meeting of the county organization will be held at Buena Park, at a date to be named by officers.

SCHOOL PUPILS AT ANAHEIM IN PLAYS, PAGEANT

ANAHEIM, May 31.—A colorful spring festival entitled "The Spring Garden," to be presented by Citrus school pupils in the Greek theater, tomorrow evening, is a public musical program to be staged in the La Palma Mexican school, tonight, and a fashion show to be presented by the home economics department of the Fremont Intermediate school in the school auditorium, Friday afternoon, combined with exhibits of the year's work in all class rooms, are important term-end events now being planned by the Anaheim grammar schools.

The spring festival, which the pupils of the Citrus primary school Friday evening promises to be the most ambitious of the three programs planned and is to be marked by costumes, dances, recitations and chorus and solo vocal numbers by the children. Miss Ruth Williams, principal, announced this morning.

The program is to commence at 6:30 o'clock in the evening, the park management having assisted in preparing an especially colorful stage setting for the production. The general public is invited to attend and there is to be no admission charge.

Taking prominent parts in "The Spring Garden" will be Dona Tassel, Paul and Samuel Iano, Margaret Campbell, Robert Helling, Arval Triplett, Mary Alice Enright, Beverly, Miss Hazel Kelly, Houston Kier, Kathleen Demaree, Kathleen Hall, and Mildred Jackson. A chorus, composed of pupils from all four grades of the school, dressed in costumes representative of various flowers, will provide the introduction and background to the action of the play. Other groups to take part include the "Garden Boys and Girls," by the third and fourth graders; the "Raindrops" by the kindergarten; "Sunbeams" by the first grade; the "Rose Girls" by third grade girls; the "Bees" by first graders; "Fisher Boys" by second and third grade boys; "Butterfly Song and Drill" by second graders; "Dance of the Fire Flies," by second graders; "Elfin" by kindergarten and children, and "Maypole dance" by third and fourth grade girls.

The program at the La Palma Mexican school is to be held at 7:30 o'clock tomorrow evening in the school auditorium and is to be marked by musical numbers contributed by members of the Mexican colony and students of the Orange County School of Fine Arts.

The fashion show at Fremont will be staged at 2:30 o'clock Friday afternoon, students of the home economics department acting as models and exhibiting the various items of wearing apparel made by the classes during the past year. All parents are invited to attend.

Both Thursday and Friday are to be observed by all schools as visiting days with parents invited to visit classes and inspect the exhibits of class work which will be on display in all school rooms.

A special program was offered at the Broadway school yesterday afternoon, a play, "Robin Hood," written by Jane Shaffer and May Allen, two of the pupils of the school, being the outstanding feature of the entertainment.

Those taking part in the play, which was produced under the direction of Miss Louise Guweller, were Richard Martin, Arnold Villalobos, Albert Morales, Jane Shaffer, Lois Smith, Margaret Allen and Mildred Cook.

General increase in the price of lumber on the Pacific coast, with manifestations of a continued strong market, form the most recent news in the construction industry, according to a report of conditions made today by Morris Shelton, secretary of the Orange County Builders exchange.

The Exchange feels that it has an important duty in keeping the public informed as to conditions in the construction industry. Secretary Shelton said, "and in line with our policy to guard against 'price' building we are merely pointing out that materials are costing more and that the future trend in construction prices will come upward a few notches. Under the new scale," Shelton concluded, "the contractor will sacrifice his profit, will reduce his grade of material or will get more money for his contracts."

Secretary Shelton reports that his information comes from county retail lumber dealers and from the official notices of the National Lumber Manufacturers association. In the Pacific Southwest the price on common fir has advanced about 31 per cent and the market is strong, local retailers report. Following the advance in fir prices the cost of other advanced five percent. The last market has advanced in still greater proportion and there is an actual scarcity of this item, local distributors report to Shelton.

The last available reports, covering the week ending May 12, show the cutting of pine 13,000,000 feet under the total of orders. Redwood cuttings were about one-sixth less than the sale.

Arrangements have been completed whereby the Anaheim Elks lodge and the Orange County Council Boy Scouts of America will combine for the annual flag day ceremony and rally of these two organizations. The Elks of Anaheim under the leadership of William Jackson are arranging the regular Elks' ritualistic flag day ceremony for the first part of the program with the Boy Scouts concluding the program with an investiture ceremony for life, star and eagle scouts.

The program will be staged in the Greek theater at the Anaheim City park, starting at 7:30 p. m. Thursday evening, June 14. It is expected that scouts and their parents and friends from all over Orange county will be present at that rally and it is also expected that the full membership of the Anaheim Elks lodge, taking in all of Northern Orange county, will swell the crowd to more than the capacity of the park, which will care for some 2500 persons.

WILL JUMP ON PACIFIC COAST

General increase in the price of lumber on the Pacific coast, with manifestations of a continued strong market, form the most recent news in the construction industry, according to a report of conditions made today by Morris Shelton, secretary of the Orange County Builders exchange.

The Exchange feels that it has an important duty in keeping the public informed as to conditions in the construction industry. Secretary Shelton said, "and in line with our policy to guard against 'price' building we are merely pointing out that materials are costing more and that the future trend in construction prices will come upward a few notches. Under the new scale," Shelton concluded, "the contractor will sacrifice his profit, will reduce his grade of material or will get more money for his contracts."

Secretary Shelton reports that his information comes from county retail lumber dealers and from the official notices of the National Lumber Manufacturers association. In the Pacific Southwest the price on common fir has advanced about 31 per cent and the market is strong, local retailers report. Following the advance in fir prices the cost of other advanced five percent. The last market has advanced in still greater proportion and there is an actual scarcity of this item, local distributors report to Shelton.

The last available reports, covering the week ending May 12, show the cutting of pine 13,000,000 feet under the total of orders. Redwood cuttings were about one-sixth less than the sale.

Arrangements have been completed whereby the Anaheim Elks lodge and the Orange County Council Boy Scouts of America will combine for the annual flag day ceremony and rally of these two organizations. The Elks of Anaheim under the leadership of William Jackson are arranging the regular Elks' ritualistic flag day ceremony for the first part of the program with the Boy Scouts concluding the program with an investiture ceremony for life, star and eagle scouts.

The program will be staged in the Greek theater at the Anaheim City park, starting at 7:30 p. m. Thursday evening, June 14. It is expected that scouts and their parents and friends from all over Orange county will be present at that rally and it is also expected that the full membership of the Anaheim Elks lodge, taking in all of Northern Orange county, will swell the crowd to more than the capacity of the park, which will care for some 2500 persons.

Savanna School Bonds Carry By Vote of 4 to 1

ANAHEIM, May 31.—Voters of the Savanna grammar school district, by a vote of four to one, approved the issuance of $12,000 in bonds for the purchase of additional land and the erection of a new school building in an election held in the school house Tuesday. A total of 36 votes were cast in the election, 72 for and 18 against the bonds.

The board had already taken an option on an acre of land, located immediately north of the present site owned by D. W. Cole at a consideration of $1000 per acre. Decisions has not yet been made as to whether the full acre or only half an acre will be purchased. L. E. Lukins, chairman, stated this morning.

The present school building is to be raised or moved off of the property and a new modern structure erected in its place, according to the present plans. It is expected that a building will be erected providing two classrooms and an auditorium.

The Savanna school now has an enrollment of 63 pupils and the district is steadily growing.

The improvement project will not affect the Mexican school maintained by the Savanna district at Stanton, it is announced.

CALIFORNIA LAD WINS AMERICA IN MOTOR CLASSIC

BY BERT M. DEMBY

(United Press Staff Correspondent)
INDIANAPOLIS, May 21.—A 23-year-old dirt track driver, virtually unknown in big time motor racing, today received the acclaim that goes to the winner of America's greatest speedway classic.

Louis Meyer, of Southgate, California, who came from behind in a Miller Special to win the 500-mile Indianapolis race yesterday, is the new speed king.

Meyer, a slim black-haired young man, was the third driver in three years to rise from obscurity to fame in the Memorial Day classic. Last year it was George Souders who crashed into the inner circle of speedway as by his victory. The year before it was Frank Lockhart, who was killed at Daytona Beach recently.

With the exception of last year, when he served as a relief driver for a brief interval, Meyer had never been on the Indianapolis track except as a mechanic. In the 1927 race he smacked the wheel of Wilbur Shaw's car for a few laps, but Shaw came back into the race and finished fourth.

Meyer's race yesterday was a steady, consistent performance throughout. He was ninth at the end of the first 50 miles, eighth

With Ray Bradfield pitching superlatively and his teammates providing him with airtight support, the Courthouse registered a surprise 4 to 2 victory over the American Legion Bugle and Drum corps at the Sixth and Olive street Bowl Tuesday.

This was the second defeat of the year for the Legionnaires who had lost only to the unbeaten Auto Club of Orange County previously.

The Bugle corps scored in the third on a walk, a fielder's choice and hits by Chumel and Trusty but the Courthouse gained the lead in the fourth on an error, a wild pitch and hits by Boyd and Smith which produced two runs. Another error, a fielder's choice and bingles by Bradfield and Boyd accounted for two more Courthouse tallies in the fifth.

Trailing 4 to 1, the surprised Buglers worked hard to put on a rally in the last round but their efforts were confined to one score, the result of a pass to Tucker, a stolen base and a single by Woods.

Vic Baird Wins Memorial Day Golf

CLASS B PLAYER SHOWS WAY TO SANTA ANA COUNTRY CLUB MEMBERSHIP IN BIG TOURNEY

Vic Baird is officially rated as nothing better than a Class B golfer at the Santa Ana Country club but the doughty little player made all the "big guns" like it at the end of the annual Memorial Day medal play tournament yesterday which he won with a net 69.

KASKARE BOXES TERRY IN MAIN SPOT AT DELHI

TONIGHT'S CARD
Main Event—Young Terry vs. Harold Kaskare, 155 pounds.
Semi-windup—Paul Gomez vs. Pat Finnegan, 145 pounds.
Preliminaries—Curtis Anderson vs. Jimmy Murray, 160 pounds; Louis Wilson vs. Rush Rushton, 155 pounds; "Red" Irving vs. Jack O'Brien, 175 pounds; Battling Stewart vs. Pete Dolan, 155 pounds.

He was good enough to get a Pullman ride from Los Angeles to Boston in March to compete in the final tryouts for the American Olympic boxing team and he hasn't gone back any since then.

That's how Boyd Ellis, Delhi bout impresario, recommends Harold Kaskare, Los Angeles welterweight, who comes to the "Barn" tonight to mill with Young Terry, the "Whittier Whirlwind," in the main event.

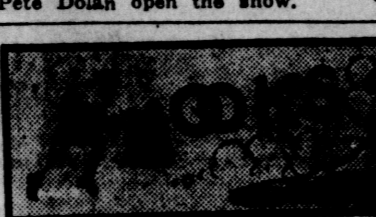

Kaskare didn't make the American team and won't get his passport to Amsterdam this summer but he is figuring on a few starts as an amateur before he blossoms out as a genuine professional.

Terry needs no introduction at Delhi. The Mexican has won all of his stars under Ellis' wing and that's all anyone can ask of him.

Paul Gomez, the Anaheim youngster with the devastating punch, is out to redeem himself. "Punch" Em Paul was beaten last Wednesday for the first time at Delhi but he says this Irishman from Los Angeles, Pat Finnegan, can't do it in tonight's semi-final spot.

The feature preliminary matches Curtis Anderson, a colored middleweight who has fought several times with success here, and Jimmy Murray, who comes highly recommended from the Main Street Athletic club.

Louis Wilson, colored heavyweight, takes on Rush Rushton, a boxing instructor at the Los Angeles playgrounds. "Red" Irving, Santa Ana truck driver, will make his pugilistic debut, against Jack O'Brien, a light heavy from Los Angeles. Bat Stewart and Pete Dolan open the show.

DID YOU KNOW THAT—

Sammy Mandell is not like Andy Cohen... He's Eytallan... Harvard beat the Yale track team for the first time in six years... And they say the Yale crew is going to be in an hour late at New London... Charley O'Leary of the Yanks is the swiftest little fellow in the big leagues... And Huggins never robbed any widows or orphans... "They say it's Balo's legs, too, as well as his eyes... They are saying now that the Terris-McLarin thing was a bo-loney... Mandell wasn't hurt by all the postmonements, but it made a wreck of Moe Kane, his manager... Moe Yennonski, St. Paul barber, bet two bits on Mandell... And a quarter on McLarin... McGraw won one fight and it reformed him... A GREAT GUY AM I

The first impulse on listening to a braggar is to let him have it right on the nose, but there are some individuals who are not offensive when they adhere to no modesty in admitting that they are very remarkable.

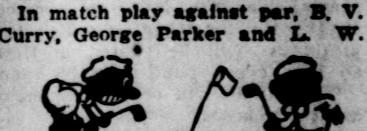

Such an individual is Jole Ray, who is about the cockiest little guy that ever owned two dogs. Jole always admitted that his dogs were just about the best in the world, and he is proving it. When the dogs ran out on him in the mile he turned them into marathons and they delivered so well for him that he is now a favorite to win the real prize of the Olympic games.

In his first marathon at Boston Bay nearly wore the dogs off to the side joints, but he finished third and he tickled his fans when he

The largest turnout of the year appeared on the Newport Boulevard acreage for the holiday tourney, exactly 59 members participating in the medal play competition. Baird made the most of his big handicap, 24, in scoring this major victory. His gross card read 93, leaving him a net 69. The membership presented him with a golf club in token of triumph.

George Parker, who closely trailed the winner with an 81-10-71, finished second and was rewarded with a new putter, the gift of the club. B. V. Curry, E. T. Mater and G. J. Gilbert all with net 73's, tied for third.

Lawrence Bemis shot an even 80 for the day's low gross. Parker and L. Homer Robinson, both with 81's, were next in play against par. B. V. Curry, George Parker and L. W.

Bemis, all three down, led the Class A field. G. J. Daley and H. J. Law, four down, were best of the Class B competitors.

Class A medal play in the afternoon was won by H. B. Van Dien with his 83-10-73. J. K. McDonald was second with 84-9-75 and George Shattuck third with 84-12-76. H. T. Richards won in Class B with 91-16-75. Carl Mock, 93-22-74, was second and M. E. Wellington, 101-24-77, was third.

FOUR S. A. BOYS IN BIG JUNIOR OLYMPIC MEET

Daily workouts are being held by the Santa Ana boys who won the right to represent Orange county in the Junior Olympic events at Moore field, University of California at Los Angeles, where the finals will be held next Saturday to determine the Southern California champion.

Norman Paul, Santa Ana high school senior champion, who was a close second in the county meet, has been practicing particularly on the basketball throw and the pull-up, his weakest events.

James Daneri, Julia C. Lathrop junior high school all-around athlete, who has a point total that only four other boys in Southern California have excelled, is conceded a good chance of winning the Southern California honors.

Both he and Paul will compete in the senior division.

Doyle Gilbert, of Santa Ana high school, and Harold Bowe, of Julia C. Lathrop junior high school, are among the Orange county boys who will compete in the pentathlon events of the Junior Olympic meet.

S. A. Motorist Runs Over Deer On Road

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO, May 21.—Deer hunting can't be so terribly bad in Orange county. Deer season isn't open yet but R. Loughboro, of 2255 Orange avenue, Santa Ana, killed a spike buck accidentally here yesterday and was not arrested for his act either.

Loughboro was driving along the coast highway. The buck, frightened, jumped into the road ahead of his machine. He struck it and killed it. A state motorcycle officer came along and Loughboro turned the dead animal over to the officer.

The buck is being held at San Juan Capistrano pending the arrival of a game warden.

In all ten athletes, five in the senior division and five in the junior division, will be entered in the juvenile classic.

EX-FULLERTON CHIEF ACCEPTS NEW POSITION

"Shorty" Smith, for the past nine years head coach of athletics at Fullerton high school and before that a mentor of Santa Ana teams, will coach football and basketball at Brea-Olinda high school in Brea next season. It was learned here today.

In confirming the reports, Smith stated that he had been made a splendid financial proposition and one which permits him to retain his residence in Fullerton where he owns his home and has many friends.

At the same time, it was disclosed that Coach Bennett, who has had charge of athletics at the Brea-Olinda school for the last three years, will remain as head of the physical education department and will assist Smith in tutoring the class teams.

Coach Smith admitted he had received several other lucrative offers, including one at Ventura and another at Alhambra but these he declined as he preferred to remain in Orange county.

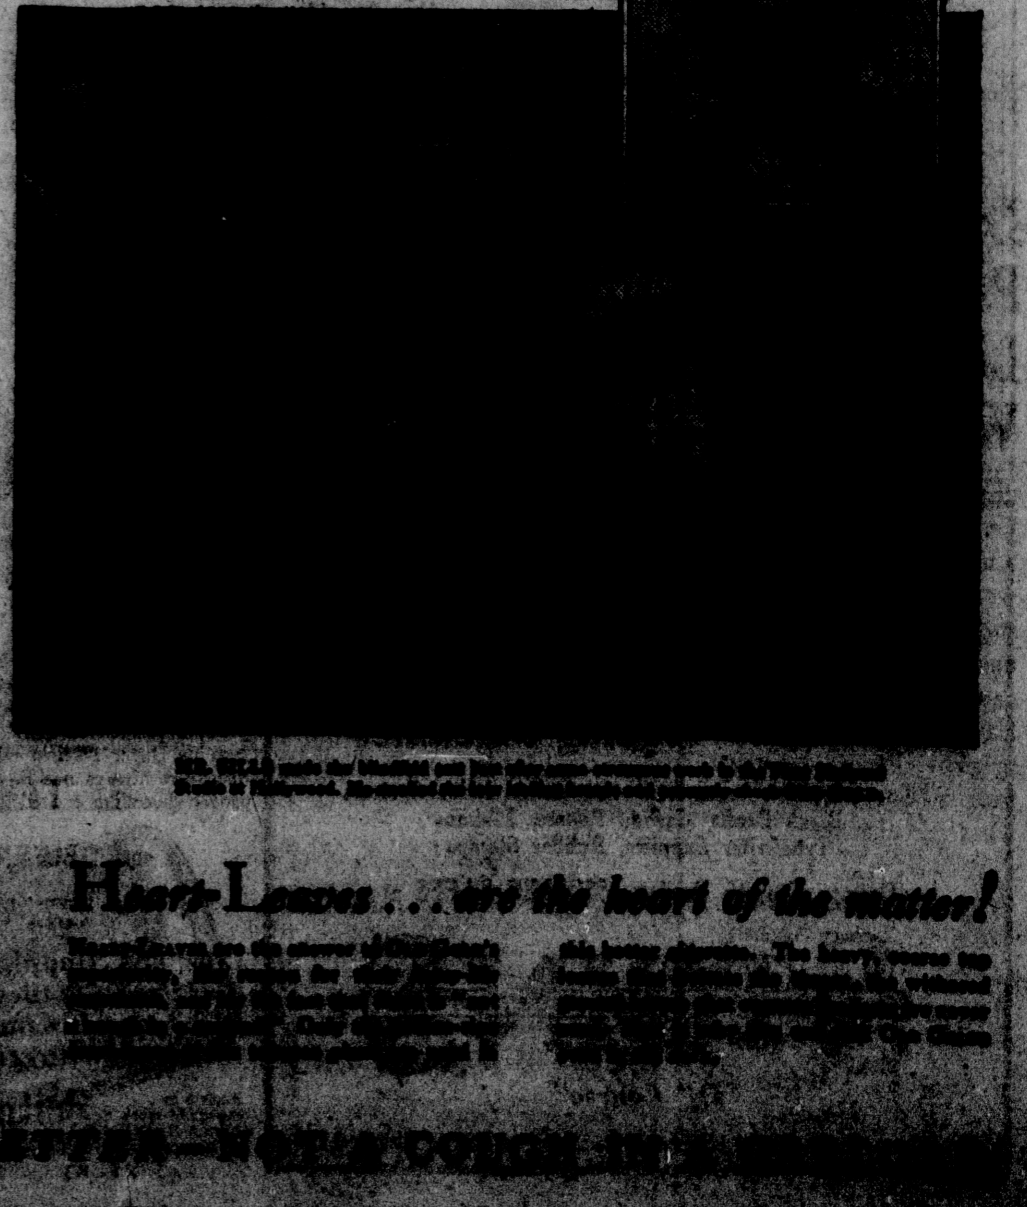

Orange county coaches readily agree that Brea-Olinda will be an important factor to contend with in all forms of sport. The district produces material which must be respected and the school is growing rapidly. That Smith can get results from material from material has been proved.

"Shorty" Smith at Fullerton, where he has had a long series of winning teams in football and basketball.

The former Santa Ana's record at Fullerton ranks with that of any interscholastic counselor in the state. His teams have twice been returned Southern California baseball champions and once football champion. Several other Smith-coached teams have been runner-up for Southern California titles. Fullerton almost invariably has won athletic crowns in the Orange County league in all branches of sport.

"The Blindfold test convinced me OLD GOLD did not even have a runner-up," says MILTON SILLS

"It's like deciding a beauty contest in the dark", I said when they told me about the blindfold cigarette test. But the experiment convinced me. The beauty of a cigarette is all inside, and I didn't have to see the label to know that Old Gold didn't even have a runner-up. I picked it out readily from the other brands as the smoothest and best cigarette. Now it's always Old Gold with me.

The Red Sox race with the temperature in mid-May and continued the season.

It has been some years since they graced the first division, and nearly everyone agrees that the club led by Carrigan is not likely to be up there in September. Boston fans had a real thrill and business in the Hub is lacking up.

Having had nothing resembling a pennant winner in either league for ten years, Boston continues one of the best baseball towns in the country. At the start of the 1935 season, much was expected of Judge Satchel Fiske's Braves, but little was hoped for from the Red Sox. When the latter did quickly to their accustomed niche in the American league, most fans figured that Carrigan's club was down there to stay.

The Braves proved a tremendous disappointment, and it looked like a bad season for Boston's baseball bugs.

And then, without warning, up out of the cellar came an embattled Red Sox club. Walter Senger, obtained from the St. Louis Browns, hit the performance infield together and produced a first line of defense second to none. The Boston pitchers began to deliver, and while nothing remarkable in the way of hitting ensued, the Red Sox began to rise.

First they overhauled the Chicago White Sox, and then they tied up the St. Louis Browns. A few days later they were mauling the Detroit Tigers and had run up a winning streak which carried them into the first division. It was a rising reward for Bill Carrigan's patience.

When Carrigan was appointed manager last year, the Red Sox had been a second division club for eight consecutive years. They had won the American league pennant in 1918 and then started downhill.

Bill had played with and managed the Sox when they were the best club in baseball. He found them the worst.

In his first season, Carrigan did nothing save build for the future. The club started the season in the cellar and finished there. Not for a single week did it lift its head above clouds. When something similar seemed about to happen this season, Boston fans were rather testy.

The mid-May march upon the first division was a surprise, therefore, as well as a pleasure, and Carrigan probably can have the credit for his breakfast any time he so desires.

The Boston Red Sox, it must be remembered, have won more American league pennants than the New York Yankees. Six times since the junior circuit was organized the pennant has flown at Fenway park, and the Red Sox won every world series in which they took part.

Most of the players who made the Red Sox great have departed from active service, but a few still continue to star. Babe Ruth, who was a left handed pitcher with the Boston club when it was winning world championships, still cuts quite a swath in the national pastime, while down in Philadelphia there is a grey-haired chap named Speaker who did as much as anyone today to keep the Athletics in the American league race at the start of the season.

Carrigan has no Ruths or Speakers this year. He has a .300 slugger in Ken Williams, purchased for him by Judge Fiske during the winter, a fair lead-off man in Ira Flagstead, a steady, reliable shortstop in Senger, and a hard-hitting, hard-working catcher in Charley Berry. The club is stronger defensively than on the attack, a balance of power similar to that which once brought a pennant to the Chicago White Sox.

Herts is another one of those leading characters in a "hooker" story. He was an immigrant boy and earned his first money as a copy boy in a Chicago newspaper office. He tried the reporting game a while and then became an automobile salesman.

He then got into the tangle business with a few cars on a small stand, and from that modest beginning grew the Yellow Truck and Coach Company, which spread from Chicago into a dozen other big cities and became the biggest concern of its kind in the world.

The business made Herts a millionaire times over. He is associated with General Motors, is the founder of the Yellow Truck and Coach Company and is heavily interested in bus lines in New York, Philadelphia and Chicago.

And he is rated by all those who know him as a grand fellow.

THE BOYS APPRECIATE IT

Mrs. Herts made a tremendous hit when she presented herself for an interview in the press box at Churchill Downs after her Reigh Count had won the Derby. It wasn't a bid for publicity—it was a kindly consideration for the convenience of the boys who often get very little courtesy or consideration from celebrities.

DO YOU KNOW THAT—

The National league players say the Cubs have the best pitchers in the league. . . . But that the left side of the infield won't do. . . . And if the Chicagoans had star third baseman they might breeze in. . . . The Pirates didn't want Paddy Ryan of the Brooklyn. . . . Wanted a catcher. . . . Other managers are leary of Paddy. . . . Because he wouldn't play with Bobby. . . . Risko and Godfrey look like a bad match. . . . No reason for it. . . . The Cubs got Pat Malone as a relief pitcher. . . . He's been a terrible pitcher in the past. . . . The socks say Ambrose shouldn't be panned for being second on Toro in the Pennants. . . . They whisper that "Sammy" Workman was on Victorian, the ninth. . . . Penelope Anderson didn't tennis much with Helen Wills in Europe. . . . Two sold for a girl from way down south in Richmond. . . . They're looking a new sign ready in the big league sign. . . . "Game Called Off. No Rain". . . . The New Yorks pulled it on the Cleveland. . . . And the Pittsburgh pulled it on the Brooklyn. . . . The New Yorks and the Pittsburghs needed pitchers at the time.

ARMY ENTRY WINS BALLOON FLIGHT TESTS

PITTSBURGH, Pa., May 31.—The 1935 elimination balloon race in which two pilots were killed, two injured and several bags buried in an electrical storm was won today by Captain M. W. R. Kasper's Army No. 1 entry which landed at Waco, Va.

Captain Kasper and his aide, Lieutenant W. C. Harshman, brought their craft to earth at 8:10 a. m., today, nearly 12 hours after it had taken off from Bettis field, McKeesport.

The Army No. 1 entry was the only one of the 16 balloons which survived the violent rain and electrical storm which struck the Pittsburgh vicinity shortly after the start of the race.

The bags were tossed in the wind, struck by lightning and forced to the ground within a few hours after they had weighted on from Bettis field.

The other army entry, No. 2, was struck by lightning at an altitude of 1000 feet near Youngwood, Pa., killing Lieutenant Paul Ewert, Pilot, Lieutenant S. G. Best, his side, piloted the bag to the ground after it burst into flames. He was uninjured.

Walter W. Morton in the City of Akron, the Goodyear entry, was killed when he leaped from the bag as it crashed into a coal tipple near West McKeesport, Pa. His companion, W. T. Van Orman, suffered a broken leg.

J. Z. Cooper, pilot of the City of Cleveland, flying with Carl K. Wollam, was injured when lightning struck the bag, causing it to collapse and shoot earthward. He suffered burns and several fractured ribs.

Wollam took to his parachute at several thousand feet altitude and landed safely.

WEST'S NEW SPRING PHENOM

Campus Comment

BY BOB MATHERNE

The only college athlete in the Pacific northwest who is the best man in two spring sports is Ed Crowley, Oregon's golf captain and pole vaulter. He's the school's best in both sports.

When Crowley started practicing for the two sports this spring, Coach Hayward had a hunch Crowley would be more of service as a pole vaulter than a golfer, inasmuch as golf was not a recognized sport at Oregon, and suggested that the youngster concentrate on track.

Hayward's advice was followed for weeks, and probably would have been followed for the season had not Crowley, with a few minutes to spare one day, took to the links and connected for a hole-in-one.

Now he doesn't know whether to quit track for golf, golf for track, or mix the two.

It might be mentioned that Crowley was enough golfer last year to win the championship for the northern division of the Pacific Coast conference. Knowing that, we have a hunch he'll divide his time as best he can between the two sports.

We hear that Ed Haynes, Denver sprinter, is quite ambitious and hopes to crack a few of the records Charles Paddock holds for track distances.

Shortly after Paddock hung up a new time for 175 yards, Haynes went out and clipped a fraction off of it. He next set out to break Paddock's time for 300 yards, but had to postpone this trial until later.

All of which may be quite a distinction for this young man, but he would get much more publicity were he to break the time for one of the standard distances.

Two brothers from Winnetka, Ill., will lead Wisconsin aquatic teams next year, elections recently held honoring Edward Lange with the captaincy of the swimming squad and his brother, Harold, with the captaincy of the water polo team.

West Virginia students are seeking installation of crew-racing as one of the sports for that university. The few objections made to the plan hinges on the excessive cost. But those who want a crew are not worrying about costs.

FRANCES WILLARD HIGH SCHOOL CONDENNED BY FORMER HEALTH OFFICER HERE AS UNSANITARY

That Santa Ana badly needs a new school building for the housing of pupils of the Frances Willard Junior high school, therefore one strong reason for the bond issue of $899,500 to be voted on next Tuesday is brought out in reports by members of the citizen's general committee, according to W. C. Jerome, chairman of the advisory board which worked with the board of education in formulating the program.

"The reports indicate that there is a general sentiment among the people of Santa Ana favoring the abandonment of the Willard Junior high school property and the erection of a new Junior high school for the north section of the city," Jerome said.

"Inquiries reveal that the parents of pupils there are strongly opposed to its continued use because of the fire hazard, traffic dangers and unsanitary conditions," he said.

Dr. V. G. Presson, formerly health officer here, communicated with school authorities some time ago and expressed his disapproval of the buildings for school purposes, it was said.

"As far back as three years ago, Dr. Presson called attention to the unsanitary condition of the buildings, directed his criticism particularly to the cafeteria arrangements," Jerome said.

"At the request of the Parent-Teacher association, Dr. Presson able in a building as old as and lacking in modern ideas as this one."

Speaking of the Junior high school situation, Jerome pointed out that in the program on which the call for bonds is based, a Junior high school is to be built at Costa Mesa and needed additions are to be made in the Julia Lathrop school on South Main street.

"Among the considerations," said Jerome, "is the fact that in the program allotment of funds as much per pupil is made for the proposed Newport Beach-Costa Mesa Junior high school as for the proposed new Willard Junior high school. The allotment, therefore, is absolutely fair to both Santa Ana and to Balboa, Newport Beach, Costa Mesa and the other districts interested. The building of a new Junior high school in the bay district will relieve the congestion at Julia Lathrop and will save the high school district, in which the taxpayers of the entire high school district are interested, hundreds of dollars every month now paid out for transportation of Junior high school pupils."

ORANGE PEOPLE VISIT SCHOOL TO SEE EXHIBIT

ORANGE, May 31.—Parents of Orange union high school students viewed the outstanding work done by the pupils at the annual exhibit held here Tuesday. Mothers entering the main building were presented with bouquets by a committee from the Girl Reserves. Exhibits over which visitors hovered were those of the Latin, Spanish and German classes. The Latin exhibit has been on display for the past few weeks and contains objects fashioned by the classes, ranging from the forum to kitchen utensils used by the ancient conquerors of the world. A number of dolls are dressed to show the costumes worn by the different classes of people.

The Spanish exhibit has a number of interesting posters printed in Madrid, huge fans with scenes from the bull ring and a miniature bull fight. Letters written from students in Germany to the students in Orange attracted much attention. A number of snapshots of the German students accompanied the letters. Woodwork was exhibited in the form of furniture that was very creditable. The art posters on display were most attractive. Many of them had been used to advertise the plays given at the school during the winter. Science and typing exhibits were of equal interest. In the home economics department, frocks made by the girls and foods cooked by them were displayed. At 3:30 p. m., a program was presented in the school auditorium by the Girl Reserves as follows: organ solo, Miss Eunice Douglas; reading, "Two Slatterns and a King," Miss Faye Stinson; musical reading, Miss Gertrude Eggers; paper, "Women in America's Making," Miss Vernel Butler.

School Bonds Lost At Westminster

WESTMINSTER, May 31.—The voting at the bond election Monday which was for $25,000 for the Westminster school, resulted in a tie, a total of 54 votes being cast; 27 for and 27 against the issue.

Those on the election board included Judge W. T. Bentley, May Manager and Mrs. Alice Hare. The issue was defeated as a two-thirds majority was needed.

PLAN FOR NEW CITY HALL AT BREA APPROVED

BREA, May 31.—Plans for a new $15,000 city hall were approved by the city council here Tuesday night. It was learned today. At the same time councilmen considered plans for a municipal swimming pool and bathhouse which will cost approximately $15,000. No action was taken on the bathing pool. Bids on the city hall will be asked at once. It is expected that work on the city hall will start before July 1.

The city hall will be situated on the city owned property on South Pomona avenue between Date and Elm streets. The bathing pool and bathhouse will be located on the same property. Both structures will be part of a civic center group which is planned by Brea. Allen Ruoff, Los Angeles architect prepared the plans for the new city hall. The building will be so arranged that additions may be made from time to time. It is reported. Ruoff is also preparing plans for the swimming pool.

It is expected that the city council will approve plans for the municipal pool at its next meeting and that the plunge can be constructed and ready for use before the summer is over.

F. G. Boxall, city street superintendent was instructed to lay a six-inch cast iron bypass line around the municipal water reservoir and will make possible the cleaning of the pool without stopping the water supply of the city.

Walker C. Davis, vice president of the Oil Field National bank, spoke to the council about the installation of a Neon sign in front of the bank building.

C. of C. Members To Meet June 5

NEWPORT BEACH, May 31.—Letters were being sent out today to local members of the Newport Harbor chamber of commerce inviting them to "sit in" with the directors at the next meeting, scheduled for June 5.

This meeting will be held at the "Little Coconut Grove" of the Green Dragon cafe, Main and Central, Balboa. There will be entertainment during luncheon. It was stated today, with the business session coming later.

A large number of new members are joining the chamber during the campaign being waged at present by two teams of the membership committee, and many of these are expected to attend the meeting of June 5.

NEW CITRUS HOUSE AT OLIVE WILL OPEN SATURDAY

Formal opening of the $35,000 house of the Olive Heights Citrus Association will be held next Saturday. In the layout of pictures of the plant and officers are included Ben H. Cole, manager; and Dr. J. D. Thomas, president (insets); on lower left a picture of the house; and on the left Miss Nora Hapgood, a member of the team from the house competing for the packing honors at this year's Valencia Orange show being held at Anaheim.

Olive Heights Citrus House Will Hold Opening at $90,000 Plant

OLIVE, May 31.—A $90,000 house, the second largest east of the Santa Ana river, will be formally opened when the Olive Heights Citrus association holds inspection day next Saturday to receive visitors from over Orange county and Southern California.

The new building, incorporating many features in its construction, replaces the house that was destroyed by fire last December.

Packing operations will be in progress throughout the day when the opening is held. Visitors will be conducted through by officers of the association and representatives of the Orange County Fruit exchange and the California Fruit Growers exchange. Ben H. Cole, manager and Dr. J. D. Thomas, of the Olive Heights Citrus association and L. D. Palmer, manager of the Orange County Fruit Exchange will be among them.

One unit has been installed in the house and it has a capacity for 500 car loads during the season. Floor space, including the offices, amounting to 110x188 feet, provides for the expansion of the plant through the installation of another packing unit, doubling the capacity.

New features of the building are the basement driveway for the unloading of boxes of oranges without the necessity of handling in conveyors and the ideal lighting arrangements for the benefit of the workers. It was pointed out by Manager Cole.

The location of the new building is on the west side of the Santa Ana canyon road, across from the site of the old plant destroyed by the fire.

Construction work has been in progress since the middle of January under the supervision of E. M. Mahl, of Garden Grove, who has been in charge of the building of four other houses, the Fullerton Mutual, the Orangeflorio Citrus Association, the Garden Grove Mutual and the High Grove plant.

An indication of the growth of the citrus industry is furnished by the figures of the shipments from the Olive Heights Citrus association since its organization in 1914. During 1915, 46 carloads were sent out and last year 593 car loads were shipped. A gradual increase has been experienced until the association now controls a total of 1650 acres.

BEACH VOTERS URGED TO AID STREET BONDS

NEWPORT BEACH, May 31.—Pointing out that the improvement of the present narrow stretch of Central avenue in Balboa is of vital importance for the future progress of this city, the Newport Chamber of Commerce is appealing to voters in improvement district No. 6 to vote "yes" on that issue Tuesday, June 5.

A letter being sent to the voters in the district, which includes territory between Alvarado and B streets and the bay and ocean, calls attention to the fact that this election will be at the fire hall in Balboa and should not be confused with the high school bond election on the same day, with voting on the latter taking place at the schoolhouse.

The improvement will include taking up the two tracks of the Pacific Electric railway, relaying one of them to the center of the street and thus providing a wider roadway for autos on each side of the tracks, without taking any of the private property on either side of the avenue.

The cost will be met by the issuance of 25-year bonds at six per cent. The assessed valuation of the district is about $1,700,000, and the cost of both principle and interest is figured at 22 cents per $100 of assessed valuation the first year and a gradual lessening each year down to 10.6 cents the last year.

Beach City Buys New Neon Signs

NEWPORT BEACH, May 31.—Attractive Neon electric signs are soon to light the various entrances to this city, following the letting of a contract through the Newport Harbor Chamber of Commerce to the California Neon Sign company.

These signs will have red Neon borders, with opalite letters carrying the names of the various parts of the city, including Newport, Balboa, Balboa Island and Corona Del Mar.

PLACENTIA PUPILS PRESENT PLAYLETS

PLACENTIA, May 31.—The children of the fifth grade entertained the other students and patrons of the schools Tuesday afternoon when they presented two short operettas. Mrs. Schenck's pupils played "Red Shoes," a Dutch fairy story, in which Lucille Watson was the fairy queen, Romona Apalache, the grandmother, and Dorothy Watson played Karen, the dancing girl. Miss Gladys Sullivan's pupils had dramatized one of their reading stories, "Robin Hood," and by using parts of the songs from the opera that covers the theme, and some other materials that were adapted to the presentation, put on a splendid performance. William Seeger took the part of Hood, Eileen Edwardson was Alice Adale, Bobby Scott was the sheriff, Maxson Foss and Donald Halber were the thiefs.

The children, who had designed and made their own costumes as well as arranged the play, conducted the entire performance.

PUBLIC SCHOOL MEETING TO BE HELD TONIGHT

NEWPORT BEACH, May 31.—Still hopeful that Santa Ana high school authorities will call off the high school bond election, scheduled for next Tuesday, June 5, leaders in the harbor high school fight expect a large attendance of people interested in the issue at the meeting scheduled for tonight at the Newport grammar school.

The latest reason advanced for the deferring of the high school issue until the lawsuit now in the courts is settled favorably or until the legislature can take action is that the elementary school issue in Santa Ana may be jeopardized if a large opposition vote is registered in the city of Santa Ana.

The harbor district people point out that although the Santa Ana school board consulted the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce before deciding on the recent survey of the high school district, they did not consult the Newport harbor nor the Costa Mesa chambers nor any other organization in the harbor district.

Now that the survey has been made, however, they have asked these harbor organizations to help put over their program. Meanwhile the mandamus suit has reached the supreme court and if it is not won, it is the intention to seek a minor amendment in the state school law at the session next January.

It is so that the situation be as clear as possible and not be more muddled than now that the deferring of the high school part of the bond election is sought.

JR. COLLEGE IS DISCUSSED AT C. OF C. MEET

PLACENTIA, May 31.—The Placentia Chamber of Commerce finds co-operation abundant in the campaign for a Northern Orange County Junior college.

At the luncheon meeting Tuesday, with president A. S. Bradford in the chair, Thomas E. Pickering read a resolution he had sketched, formulating the views of the chamber on the uniting of the high school districts to form one Junior college district. It was agreed to turn this resolution over to the Junior college committee, composed of Louis Jacobson, H. H. Hale and Ralph McFadden, for further study and revision, if necessary. If this plan is adopted at the next meeting, it will be presented to like bodies for consideration.

It is thought that such action will tend to show the attitude of the people in this movement to change the Junior college situation.

The announcement was read by the members that on June 21 at 10 a. m., the Placentia Water company will have a hearing before the representative of the railroad commission on its plea for a change in water rates. It was further noted that all water consumers in the district will be notified of the hearing, and asked to come to the chamber of commerce hall at this time.

Louis Jacobson, reporting for the Valencia Orange Show display committee, said the Placentia exhibit had won a third ribbon in plate display.

LIONS AT MESA ARE TO ELECT OFFICERS SOON

COSTA MESA, May 31.—Officers of the Lions' club for the coming year were nominated at the regular meeting of the club Tuesday. Dr. C. G. Huston, president of the club now, and Judge C. B. Diehl, local attorney were nominated for the position of president.

Other officers nominated were: Charles Dunn, first vice president; C. W. TeWinkle, second vice president; Dr. F. B. Morrell, third vice president; Roy Davis, Lion tamer; W. W. Middleton, secretary-treasurer; George Gardner, tall twister; Earl Patterson, Emil Greener and Fenton Chaplin, directors.

Judge Kenneth E. Morrison, justice of the peace at Santa Ana spoke to members of the Lions' club. His topic was "Traffic Violation." In his address Morrison gave the number of persons killed in traffic accidents in the United States during the past year and pointed out that most of the accidents were due largely to speeding.

Jack Wallace, of Santa Ana and James A. Fair, of Riverside, were guests of the club at the meeting.

HOUSEHOLD.Birthday Luncheon Is

The happiest kind of a birthday celebration was staged yesterday for Miss Gladys Campbell, when Mrs. Dana Smith and Miss Esther Davis complimented her with a luncheon at Mrs. Smith's home, 1330 French street.

Garden flowers in a variety of forms and colors, graced the home and added their charm to the table where a delectable luncheon menu was served. Luncheon was succeeded by bridge and ruck, and prizes were won by Mrs. George H. Borgwardt and Miss Verna Wells.

At the close of the afternoon Mrs. Smith brought in a large birthday cake, nestled in pale pink sweet peas and tiny rosebuds, and sparkling with pink candles. It was placed before Miss Campbell, who cut it to be served with a cooling fruit punch.

Asked to share the happy affair with the two hostesses and their honor guest were Mrs. Wilbur Getty, Mrs. N. E. Wells, Mrs. George H. Borgwardt, Miss Patsy Fugh, Miss Elfreda Birgin, Miss Pearl Camplin, Miss Verna Wells, Miss Martha Wilck, Miss Margaret Grant, Miss May Fulham, Miss Isabel Lindsay, all of this city, and Miss Betty Renshaw and Miss Beth Walker of Anaheim.

Handkerchief Shower
Is Compliment to Bride-to-Be

Bridge was the diversion Miss Helen Richards' guests at a pretty party given Tuesday evening in her home at 816 French street, but exceeding the bridge session in interest, was a handkerchief shower for her sister, Miss Anita Richards who soon will wed Jack Henry.

Many brilliant sweet peas were used in embellishing the home for the guests. In the game of bridge, Miss Marian Bruner took first honors and received an attractive reward, while consolation gift went to Miss Eleanor Crookshank.

The card tables were then prepared for refreshments by fresh linens and bowls of posies, and ice cream smothered with strawberries, was served with delicious cake. Mrs. M. S. Richards assisted her daughter in serving.

The climax of the evening was reached when a tray of charmingly wrapped packages was placed before Miss Anita Richards, and she learned that she was being showered with handkerchiefs. After the pretty gifts had all been admired, the honoree delighted her friends by showing them the many lovely things she has in readiness for her wedding, and the collection of gifts received at showers and parties.

In the group with the hostess, Miss Helen Richards, and her honoree, the bride-elect, were the Misses Eleanor Crookshank, Eleanor Turner, Mary Bruner, Marian Bruner, Violet Gardner, Josephine Ball, Frances Bourne, Virginia Powell, Margaret Grant and Pauline Neddermeyer, and Mrs. Richards.

Santa Ana friends of Miss Juanita Smart of San Bernardino, who formerly attended Junior college here, were keenly interested in the announcement of her marriage to Forrest M. Neaton of Orange, which took place in Yuma, Ariz., on March 31.

The bride is a teacher in the Colton schools, and is very popular with a wide circle of friends. The marriage announcement was reserved until near the close of the school year, and at the same time the young people revealed that they would make their home in Santa Ana. They plan to take an extensive eastern trip this summer, as their deferred honeymoon.

Schoolday Happenings
Recalled at Merry
Bridge Evening

Many were the lively reminiscences of Santa Ana high school days enjoyed Tuesday night at the Joseph J. Smith home, 120 North Broadway, when Mr. and Mrs. Smith called together a group of school friends of their daughter, Mrs. George D. Osterman (Lola Smith) of El Toro, and Mrs. Spencer Patterson (Marjorie Smith) of this city, as a compliment to their home-guest, Mrs. Albert Blakely of San Antonio, Tex., Mrs. Smith's sister.

Flowers in rich profusion decked the home, and while the deep hooded gladioluses came from the garden of the host, Mrs. Osterman's sweet peas and Mrs. Patterson's Dorothy Perkins roses were quite as lovely, and added as much to the charm of the evening. Tables were placed for bridge, and in the evening session which ensued, Mrs. Ralph Mitchell and C. B. Tillotson took first prizes, the former receiving an exquisite taffeta pillow in quilted design, and the latter, a quilted marble owl paperweight. Mrs. Clifford Prunty took consolation gift of an embroidered boudoir pillow, and an amusing little dog cigarette lighter, conceived Ralph Mitchell.

In replacing card table covers with pretty embroidered linens, and arranging the tables with flowers for serving refreshments, Mrs. Smith had the aid of her three daughters, Mrs. Osterman, Mrs. Patterson and Miss Elizabeth Smith. Ices were served with home-made cookies, salted nuts, mints and coffee, and then the young people gathered around the piano for a series of favorite old-time songs, interspersed with more tales of school experiences and escapades.

No one enjoyed the informal merriment more than Mrs. Blakely, happy to know the friends of her niece. In the group in addition to the hosts and their honored guest, were Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Tillotson, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Osborne, Mr. and Mrs. Spencer Patterson, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Cole, Mr. and Mrs. E. K. Gerhardt, Miss Elizabeth Smith, Don Smith and Leonard Baker, Santa Ana; Mr. and Mrs. Seanie Osterman, Mr. and Mrs. George D. Mr. Motone
Has Hard
Time

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON
Some people who drive cars are ruthless and lawless, but the majority are anxious to make the world safe for themselves and others.

There are two kinds of traffic laws, one for the country and one for the city. Road police are not able to check up absolutely and completely on country driving. That would be impossible.

But as a matter of fact the majority of people who drive cars in the country are law-abiding. They do the square thing about nine times out of ten. It is this quality in human nature that makes the automobile a possibility.

If the percentage of good road drivers is so high, it is sensible to believe that the same rate pertains to cities. Most people are more than anxious to play traffic rules. If they break them, it is usually because of ignorance, carelessness, or confusion. Often the traffic rules of a city change over night, while Mr. Average Citizen is asleep.

If he goes against traffic on a one-way street, he seldom does it deliberately. If he turns to the left where he is not allowed, it may be because he has been allowed to do so before, or because he is ignorant of the change of rule.

Yesterday perhaps he was allowed to park for an hour in a certain block. Today he does it and gets a tag.

Why is it that traffic policemen in cities are so often man-eaters? Why do they treat a driver as though he were a kidnaper? Of course there are exceptions, cases where drivers should be looked up for life, but if a man makes a mistake there is no reason for the "cop" to jump down his throat.

I have one city in mind where the traffic policemen are kind and courteous almost to a man. This city has the reputation of having less traffic trouble than any other city its size in the country.

GOOD breeding, of course, means that you can give a good example. One just can't go about telling people how to behave. The majority of people are law-abiding. They do the square thing about nine times out of ten. It is this quality in human nature that makes the automobile a possibility.

The WOMAN'S DAY

ALLIEN RAGNER

The "company dropping in" stunt is a real subject of conflict in many homes. It's probably because homes are composed of so many more individuals with individual interests than in the days when the sound of a stranger's gig brought loud huzzas from a snow-bound home, just rarin' for company and excitement.

I know a woman of this older day who can't possibly understand why her daughter gets so cranky at the visiting country cousins who "just drop in" most any Sunday afternoon.

The mother is glad to see them. Her life is spent indoors pretty much. She has few outside contacts and interests apart from her family. But the daughter, private secretary to a big business man, has but one day a week for her entertaining, her clothes shopping and mending, her shampooing, all the odds and ends to which the Sundays of our working girls are dedicated.

"I never in the world planned having my own company to tea or supper on Sunday but what mother's relatives dropped in on us," she says. "I'm not snobbish and I'm not ashamed of them. But it merely means discomfort for all sides. One can only be decent and ask them to sit down to supper. That means two conflicting crowds—mother and her friends resentful because they can't gossip about family personalities, and my friends bored to death at having to be pleasant to strangers with whom they haven't a thing in common.

"Or, just as I begin prancing about the house in a faded old kimono with my hair down, all set for a shampoo, in they pounce, and I have to flee with all my well-laid plans punctured.

"Sundays are too precious to be commandeered in this way by people who never seem to realize the importance of her day off to a working girl. It's one thing to plan on people and invite them, and it's another just to have them "drop in."

THE TINYMITES

STORY & ILLUSTRATION BY CAROL ANN BROWN

(Read The Story, Then Color The Picture)

The stone path led 'way up the hill. The Tynymites soon got their fill of walking, and wee Clowny said, "Say, how far must we go? I am as tired as I can be. I'm getting wobbly at the knees. It really would be easier, if we would travel slow."

"My, my," exclaimed the Happy Man. "I walk as slowly as I can. Brace up, and keep on plugging. We will very soon be there. I think you all should realize that walking is an exercise. Why, if I had to walk 10 miles a day I wouldn't care."

However, he slowed down a bit, and soon the bunch were feeling fit. "Ah, look ahead," cried Scout, "that's your little home, I'll bet." You're right, it is, the man replied, "and we will shortly be inside. And there we'll find a lot of things that you are going to get."

The house was quite a funny sight. It didn't seem to stand up right. "It looks like it is going to fall," said Carpy, with a grin. "Oh, it's as safe as it can be," the man replied. "You'll shortly see." And, as he opened up the door, the Tynymites walked right in.

Right on a table, piled up neat, the bunch saw lots of things to eat. A lot of cans of real nice fruit, and heaps of crackers, too. The Happy Man said, "Here's a bag that one of you will have to drag. I'm going to put these things inside, and give them all to you."

"Oh, thank you! Thank you!" Coppy said. And then the fat man went ahead and filled the burlap sack up full. "How great!" wee Coppy roared. Then Clowny grabbed the bulging sack and swung it upon his back.

THE YOST SPURGEON THEATRE

YOST SPURGEON THEATRE
"Motherhood" one of the most discussed photoplays of the year, has its opening at the Yost Spurgeon theatre today. It begins a three-day engagement at the popular playhouse, coming direct from extended long runs throughout the country and has gained notice because of its truthful dramatic portrayal as the first serious screen attempt to bring the problem of modern maternity squarely to the fore.

The picture carries a love story which has been carefully woven into the production by Lita Lawrence, noted society and club woman, and was also produced with the direct co-operation of the Knickerbocker, Bellevue and Allied hospitals of New York. "Motherhood" will be at the Yost through to Saturday. Matinees will be given daily.

WEST END THEATRE
A "tailor-made cast"—this is how Ernst Lubitsch, famous screen director, describes the personnel of his latest production, the spectacular filmization of "The Student Prince," now playing at the West End theatre.

From the principal roles, played by Ramon Novarro and Norma Shearer, down to the humblest extras, every player was chosen after careful inspection. The cast includes Jean Harlow, Bobby Mack, Otis Harlan, George K. Arthur, Lionel Belmore and Edythe Chapman.

YOST BROADWAY THEATRE

The story is from the pen of Emerson Hough, the author of "The Covered Wagon" and tells in graphic detail the life in a small community and the evil caused by the wagging tongues of gossiping old women.

Dorothy Phillips, as the mother who has withstood the taunts of many years is said to be superb in her characterization while William Collier, Jr., as the young son and Jean Arthur as his sweetheart are beyond criticism, it is asserted. Others who acquitted themselves more than creditably, it is said, are Phillips Smalley, Florence Turner, Gibson Gowland, Charles A. Post and Vera Lewis.

WEST COAST-WALKER
Incontestably proving herself once again the greatest tragic actress on the screen today, Pola Negri closes tonight at the West Coast-Walker theatre in her latest starring picture, "Three Sinners." Sifting her personality and artistry to perfection, "Three Sinners" is a screen creation by this gifted actress which will live long in the memory.

Pola Negri is at her best in the portrayal of such characters as the Countess Gerda Wallentin, a woman who passes from respected society leader to painted adventuress. Ghosts will strut about the screen at the West Coast-Walker when Esther Ralston's starring vehicle, "Something Always Happens," is presented here for the first time.

WID $15,000 A MINUTE AT BIG PICTURE SALE

LONDON, May 31.—At the opening of a few days ago of the great-out auction of old masters ever held, the first 60 pictures brought the record price of more than $1,000,000 at Christie's. Bidding was carried on at the rate of about $15,000 a minute.

It is assumed that most of the finest pictures sold—they are from the famous Holburn collection—will go to the United States.

Two of the highest prices paid were by M. Knoedler and company, a New York firm with offices on Bond street here. This company gave $196,425 for Rembrandt's portrait of a man holding the Torah, and $224,070 for his portrait of a young man with a cleft chin. The latter canvas measures only 2½ feet by 2 feet. In the first 90 minutes of the sale more than $1,000,000 was received.

Knoedler's also purchased the portrait by Rembrandt, for $10, Jan Gossaert for $34,629, a small portrait by Rembrandt, for $10, 185; Reuben's portrait of Helen Fourment for $33,100, and Arian Aannan's portrait of Prince Rupert for $18,283.

Agnew's paid $15,380 for Sir Antonio Moore's portrait of the Duke of Savoy, and also got Albert Curp's painting, "Dordrecht on the Mass," for $102,200.

The Toronto Art Gallery, through an agent, purchased "The Elevation of the Cross," by Peter Paul Rubens, for $16,352.

The art collection of the late Sir George Lindsay Holford, from which most of the paintings disposed of came, was sold last July for more than $2,500,000.

French Inventor Found Starving

PARIS, May 31.—The man who invented vanadium steel and helped save the wine industry of France has been saved from starvation by charity.

At 57, deaf, weak and disillusioned, M. Heloux, decorated for his fight against the phylloxera that was killing vines, is kept in a home for the aged by the Society of Friends of Science. His story, told before the Academy of Science, caused that body to vote a contribution of funds.

Millions of dollars, the academy was told, have been made in the industrial world by the scientific knowledge of the worn-out man who was found starving in a little shed outside of Paris, still feebly working over his books and papers and simple laboratory apparatus, but without food or money.
